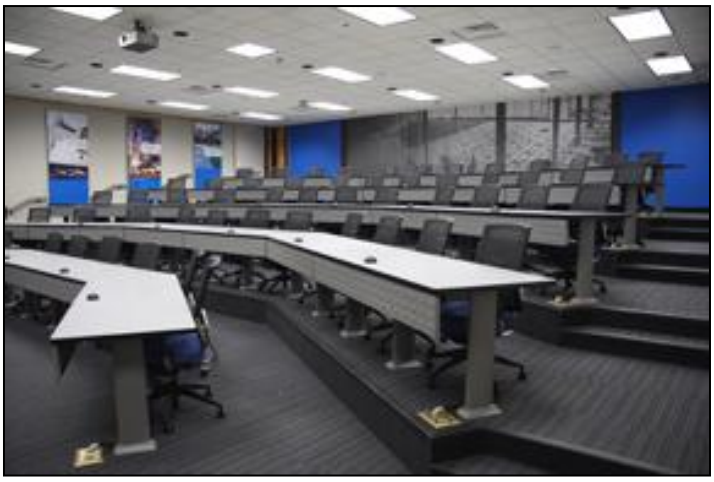
Uponor Academy offers professionals a resource for properly designing and installing Uponor radiant heating and cooling, plumbing and fire sprinkler systems.

Factory Training — 11,000 square feet of classrooms, applications labs, business center, refreshment area and cafeteria await the professional looking for an intensive educational experience. And in 2012, Uponor Academy received certification for continuing education units (CEUs) for all its factory training courses.



Uponor Academy offers factory training in an 11,000-square-foot learning center for the hands-on and classroom experience in addition to online webinars and field training for in-the-office and on-the-jobsite education.

Webinars —Uponor's webinar series offers busy professionals free, one-hour online training they can experience on their own time. Professionals can sign up for upcoming live webinars or access prerecorded webinars for immediate learning.

Field Training — For on-the-job training, Uponor can arrange local and regional instruction both at the jobsite and in the office. Anytime, anywhere, Uponor and its national network of manufacturer's representatives are available to help train, guide and support professionals in the office and out on the jobsite.

Uponor's training program is part of a long legacy of commitment and support to the trades and other professionals in the residential and commercial building industry.
